You could stop making all the false accusations, fostering hate through your social media posts, and request that your partner stop attacking/belittling /bullying anyone that shows support for them.

You could publicly admit that your part in what appears to be a 1.5 year long campaign of lies and attempted character assassination was a mistake. You could release all of the innocent bystanders that should have been allowed to freely join any ride by any group at any time they wanted in any frequency from being bullied into conformity and submission.

That is a quote from a previous comment from me directly to you 6 months ago. Source for quote

It does seem as though you are now releasing people to ride with whomever they choose - that's really great. Unfortunately many individuals, that initially were happily periodically riding with RBA, crumbled under the bullying pressure to conform and eventually joined in hateful public commentary aimed at RBA. These are probably the same people that complain of being blocked or removed by the RBA organizers. All the while shouting, why me!

The "bad blood" idea keeps going because you and other SCA administrators, "leaders", and volunteers continue to cyberbully and foster or condone hate. I and volunteers in the images alongside one of a dildo with "RBA" scrawled in permanent ink marker on it. The penis imagery in the party pictures matches the hateful stickers that are added on top of ride bikes austin stickers around town. See for yourself -Caution explicit image

On the flip side, I've never seen a derogatory mention of SCA or anyone involved with SCA in the RBA private group nor from any of the organizers, leaders. or volunteers. The "bad blood" is entirely one sided from my outsider perspective. Those dogpile posts no longer appear in the SCA group either which is definitely a good move.

If you really want the "bad blood" idea to die, Looks like the next step is to publicly acknowledge the failed campaign of lies and attempted character assassination was a poor way to handle frustration. Try sincerely apologizing...it will probably have to be just as public as the hate mongering posts have been since all those attacks resulted in being blocked from direct communication.

The organizers and members of Social Cycling Austin did not hold the individuals that represent the group accountable nor offer us an apology...but rather we offer our LGBTQ members an apology for the Social Cycling Austin ride leader's offensive public post. The SCA Administrator, Ride Leader and other members of the group that shared or engaged with the post know that the RBA/Critical Mass Austin organizers are LGBTQ women of color. The post was extremely hurtful and embarrassing to us

This is the image that appears when a reader clicks the "See for yourself - Caution explicit image" link in a Reddit post linking penis themed hate stickers to dildo with RBA written on it ..
